You Can Support Renewable Energy Production

We all know the key role renewable fuels—those produced from something other than fossil fuels—play in our energy future. The technologies we use to generate renewable power are making advancements, but green energy still comes at a slightly higher cost.

Through our Support Renewable Energy Program, ECI REC member-consumers can support the development of renewable energy production facilities in Iowa by contributing an additional amount each month to your electric bill. Your contribution does not directly purchase renewable power; it goes toward continuing advancements in the production processes that make renewable power affordable and reliable for everyone.

New regulations on carbon emissions are coming, and they will be stringent. By contributing today to support renewable energy development, you are taking one small step toward helping to diversify energy sources and control electric rates in the future. Together, our support can make a difference!

FAQs

- What will it cost me to support renewable energy? The extra cost is $2.10 for each 100 kWh that you sign up for.
- Are all members eligible to participate in this program? Yes. If you have more than one ECI REC account please specify through which account(s) you wish to contribute.
- Can I decide at what level I will participate in the program? Yes. Regardless of how many kilowatt-hours you use each month, you can sign up to support the purchase of only 100 kWh or any multiple of 100 kWh.
- Will I receive renewable energy directly to my home or business? No. Power from the renewable sources will be fed into the CIPCO electric system, from which ECI REC is supplied. The actual electricity flowing to your home or business will come from a mix of sources, some of which are renewable, like wind turbines or solar panels.
- Will power to my home or business depend on the weather? No. Electricity will flow to your home or business regardless of whether the wind is blowing or whether the sun is out.
